The Cambridge English Teaching Framework

The Cambridge English Teaching Framework

The framework has been designed:

- 1) to help you identify where you are in your professional career
- 2) to help you think about where you want to go next.

Identifying the components of effective teaching

- What is your greatest strength as a teacher?
- Which area of your teaching do you think you need to develop more?

The five categories of the framework

- Learning and the Learner
- Teaching, Learning and Assessment
- Language Ability
- Language Knowledge and Awareness
- Professional Development and Values

The five categories of the framework

- Learning and the Learner
- Teaching, Learning and Assessment
 - Planning language learning
 - Using language learning materials and resources
 - Managing language learning
 - Teaching language systems
 - Teaching language skills
 - Assessing language learning
- Language Ability
- Language Knowledge and Awareness
- Professional Development and Values

The four stages of the framework

- Foundation
- Developing
- Proficient
- Expert

STEP 1 OF 4 1.1

1. How much do you understand about the theories of how people learn languages?

(e.g. critical period, implicit/explicit learning, immersion, comprehensible input, L1 transfer, individual differences)

For example, do you know about 'language transfer'? (This language learning theory is about how learners sometimes use what they know about their own language to understand how English works.) Do you know other language learning theories? How well do you understand them? Do you know the terms used for talking about language learning? For example, do you use terms like 'language acquisition', 'critical period' and 'comprehensible input'?

I have a basic understanding of them.

I have a reasonable understanding of them.

I have a good understanding of them.

I have a sophisticated understanding of them.

Not all teacher development activities are equally effective. While some are really useful, helping teachers transform their practice and improve their learners' learning, many others have little or no real impact on teaching and learning.

It's time to stop wasting your precious time taking part in activities that will contribute little to your growth as a teacher. This webinar explores personalised, relevant and evidence-based approaches that put you, the teacher, in the driving seat of your own professional development and equip you with what you need to be the best teacher you can be.

Silvana Richardson is Head of Teacher Development at Bell Educational Services. She has worked in English Language Teaching for over 25 years as teacher and academic manager, and has trained EFL, MFL, ESOL, EAL, CLIL and subject teachers and trainers in the state and private sectors both in the UK and abroad. She has been Director of the Bell Delta Online and Director of Studies at Bell Teacher Campus, Cambridge. Silvana is a speaker in international conferences as well as a webinar presenter, and has written professional development materials for Cambridge English Teacher. She holds an MA in Teacher Education, is PGCE and Delta qualified.

Peer observation is being recognised as a key process within professional development which can benefit both the teacher being observed and the observer. These tasks can be used as a basis for a peer observation process or incorporated into an existing programme. Using these tasks will help to create a collaborative environment for a useful exchange of ideas, approaches and methods to further develop teacher skills.
